

Moving and Growing for Positive Change

ASCNYC's new "Midtown Central" program center in the heart of Herald Square combines a convenient location, custom-designed facilities, improved technological assets, and a bright, welcoming environment that communicates ASCNYC's unwavering dedication to helping more people than ever before to achieve positive changes in health, housing, recovery, and self-sufficiency.

Impacts

We graduated 91% of participants in our renowned peer training programs.

86¢ of every dollar raised went directly to services and programs.

ASCNYC was named the "2014 Outstanding Non-Profit of the Year" by the SCORE Foundation.

We served 5,200 low-income clients with multiple chronic illnesses – a 71% increase since 2010.

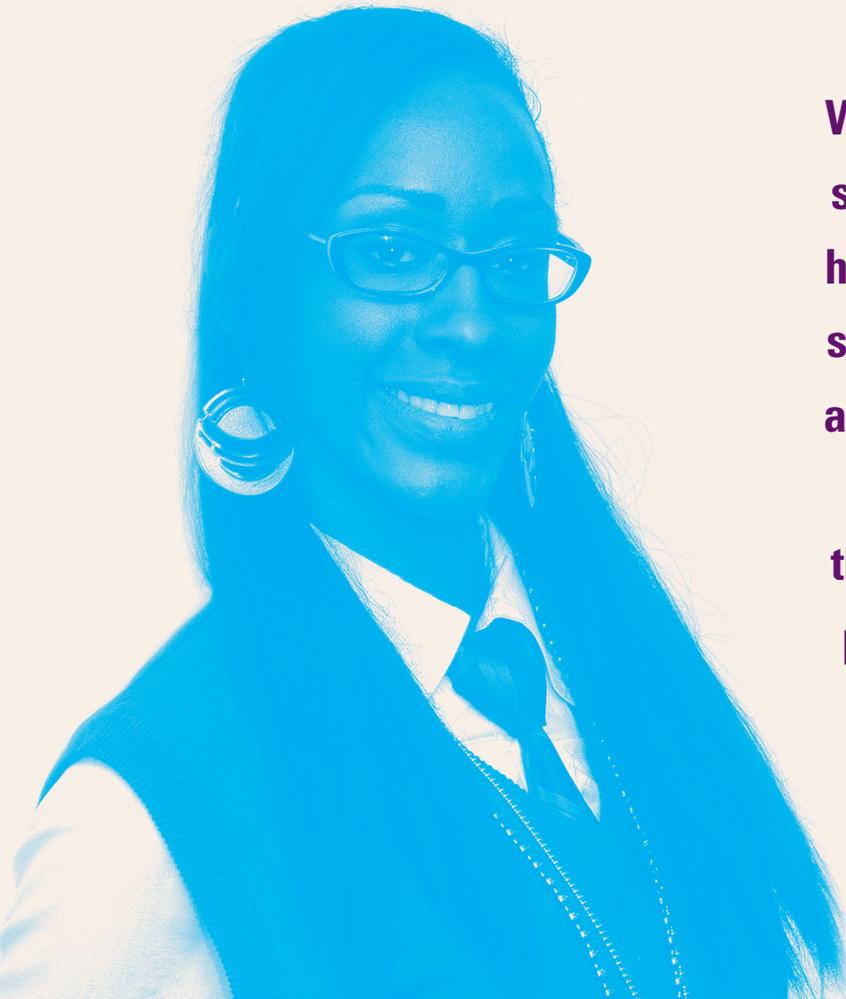

We served 30,000 hot meals and distributed 4,000 bags of groceries to ensure that our clients had healthy, nutritious food and that no one went home hungry.

We connected 3,377 low-income clients to life-saving medical care and treatment – a 240% increase over five years.

We provided paid internships for 94 Peer Educators who delivered health coaching to 3,000 clients.

When I first came to ASCNYC, my spirit was broken. But ASCNYC helped me realize that I do have self-worth, I do matter, and I can achieve any goal that I work hard to accomplish. ASCNYC helps the people who come here make positive changes in their lives every single day.

The move to a bigger, better space illustrates ASCNYC’s trajectory of growth. As we approach our 25th year of promoting positive change, we’re amplifying our impact in so many ways:

- We’ve expanded our services beyond HIV/AIDS to include hepatitis, diabetes, addiction, mental illness, and other chronic conditions.
- We’ve forged powerful partnerships with New York City’s biggest and best hospitals and clinics—New York Presbyterian, Mount Sinai, IFH, and others—to make sure the low-income people we serve have immediate access to high-quality, effective care.
- Our new housing program in the Bronx is providing safe, beautiful homes—plus onsite counseling—for 70 formerly homeless New Yorkers with chronic illnesses.
- Our harm reduction and recovery programs are expanding through our new OASAS-licensed Outpatient Drug Treatment clinic in Washington Heights and via partnerships with needle exchange programs.
